Dear FCC:

I can not believe this. Anymore it is getting to the point that everyone is looking to get money no matter how they do it, who they take down or make miserable. You guys are people too so you should really think of us as people too. This terrorist attack hasn't brought us together if anything we are the same as we was and always will be. A little over a year goes by and then we go back to the same old crap. Raise this raise that and so on then everyone is to wonder why we are so far into debt and struggling through life. One day reality will hit even those people who don't worry about money or the things people like me have to worry about. My point is that I cannot afford to pay this. I don't use my phone as a luxury, I use it for emergency purposes which is a blessing at times for a family person like myself. Please think about what I said.

Thank You

Thank you for your prompt attention to this matter. Please provide a written response indicating the status/resolution of this matter.

Very truly yours,
